Summer Discovery in THAILAND!

A four-week Buddhism and Asian Studies program designed for a small group of international students

Location: Thammasat University

Thammasat University is centered on a compact campus that was formerly the viceroy's palace grounds on the Chao Phraya River - near the center of the original Bangkok. The campus is close to some of Thailand's most sacred temples and many government ministries, as well as the Grand Palace, the National Theater, and the National Museum.

Program Details

Four week program designed for a small group of international students interested in Buddhism and Asian Studies. The program focuses on the complex relationship between Buddhism and Thai history, politics, economics, education, literature, law, arts, and theatre. Participants will be instructed by distinguished scholars and professors at Thammasat University and will visit sites of particular historical importance.

Courses and Credits

Students take the following two courses (3 credits each):

- Thai Society & Culture
- Buddhist Institutions

Classes are held in the morning Monday through Friday with time for study or cultural explorations in the afternoon. On the weekends, students participate in field trips to temples, monasteries, museums, archaeological remains, palaces, and ethnic minority communities throughout Thailand. Opportunities will also be provided for attending cultural performances of Thai theatre, dance, and music.

Dates

June 30 – July 26

Fees

TBA (includes tuition, room, board and excursions)
